Connection pipes for 9500

Dear Customers,

In order to improve our product, we have changed the design of the connection pipes used between the valve 9500 and its second tank adapter.

These new connection pipes have a new part number and are packaged by pair with their screws, retaining clips and adapters with o-rings.

We will continue to deliver screws inside the 9500 box until the end of June so that you can continue to assemble the old connection pipes.

New version
